

Custom Solutions

CUSTOM SOLUTIONS FROM SIRRUS

When packaged applications are not enough, you need solutions tailored specifically for your organization. Through SirrusLabs, our software development practice, Sirrus can provide the approach and implementation to fulfill your custom software needs. Using SirrusLabs lets you draw on a wide range of expertise including:

- Custom Business Intelligence and Data Mining solutions
- Reporting and analysis packages for new and existing applications
- Web part development for Microsoft SharePoint™
- Database development
- Microsoft .NET application development
- Next-generation development using the Ruby on Rails framework
- Best-of-breed approach to software development

DELIVERY FOCUS

At Sirrus we believe in results. Our approach to software development focuses on rapidly producing results by turning requirements into working prototypes. With your involvement, we continually refine the solution until your needs are met. Working with SirrusLabs means:

- A simplified approach to development: Projects are marked by four phases – plan, build, test and deploy. Requirements are rapidly prototyped and refined into the final product.
- You get real project rigor: Time boxed development work; assigning real deliverables and milestones for each phase of the project. Communication is a keystone of how we work.
- High visibility into project status: Through a client intranet, you'll be able to track the project, see results and maintain a high degree of interaction with the project team. The history of the project is available at your disposal.
- Top caliber people: Our team prides itself on capability and high standards. Sirrus believes in small teams of high competence.

BUSINESS-MINDED

Technologies are a means to an end. Applying the right tools to your business problems are our specialty. Our solutions go beyond programming to include soft aspects like training, documentation and lifecycle planning to ensure a future for your investment.

We understand you want a result, that's why we keep our commitments and properly plan to ensure our engagements are successful. At Sirrus, we begin and end with a focus on your business.

Contact Information

207, 919 Centre St. North, Calgary, AB T2E 2P6 www.sirrusolutions.com
403.285.0140 | info@sirrusolutions.com